

James E. Lee III is the Minority Business Coordinator Trainee for the City of Asheville and a resident of Asheville. He is a graduate of American InterContinental University in Hoffman Estates, IL with a Master in Business Administrations with a concentration in Operation Management. He has studied on a Doctorate level in Business Administrations with a concentration in Management at Argosy University in Chicago, IL.

He has worked in the private sector as an Operations Manager for several small businesses and as a Retail Consultant for small businesses in the Asheville Area before coming to work for the City of Asheville. He has worked for the public sector since the spring 2007. He has worked in the Parking Services Division and Transportation and Engineering Administration Division before his current position with the Office of Economic Development. James is active in numerous professional, civic, and community organizations in Asheville and Western North Carolina.